

DISCLAIMER

The Assumption of Risk, Release, and Waiver of Liability Agreement (the “Agreement”) and the accompanying Explanation of Purpose (“Explanation”) are provided for informational purposes only and do not constitute legal advice to our members or their patients. Furthermore, the American Academy of Periodontology makes no guarantees of, and assumes no responsibility for, the accuracy, efficacy, or timeliness of the Agreement or the Explanation. Law varies by jurisdiction, and while the Agreement and Explanation are intended to provide generic templates, they may not be legally compliant or enforceable in your jurisdiction. You are encouraged to consult with legal counsel prior to any use of the Agreement or Explanation.

The Agreement and Explanation are provided as templates, so as to allow for customization as necessary or desirable. By using these templates, in whole or in part, you expressly agree that (1) you are responsible for ensuring the Agreement and Explanation are consistent with any and all applicable laws, including those that may be specific to your jurisdiction; (2) you understand that the Agreement or Explanation may not be fully or partially accurate or enforceable in your jurisdiction; and (3) you expressly release the American Academy of Periodontology and its officers, directors, employees, agents, and representatives, from any liability, including any claims, losses, or expenses, related to your use of the Agreement or Explanation. Furthermore, you understand and agree that any use of the Agreement and Explanation should not be viewed as a substitute for taking all steps reasonably available to protect your office, staff, and patients.

Full compliance with all applicable antitrust laws is a requirement for use of the Agreement and Explanation. You are not under any obligation to use all or a portion of the Agreement and/or Explanation for your practice. Any use by you is purely voluntary. Further, competitors should not discuss or agree on the fees and prices for services or other measures to lessen competition. Joint discussion and analysis of the information by members should be avoided. Each member should separately analyze the information and make independent business decisions based on their own assessment of relevant information.
